

Progressive Manufacturing Awards

Peter Volkert, Director, Information Systems

I am very excited to announce that Symetrics Industries has made Managing Automation Media's prestigious 2009 PM100 list. We are one of only 100 companies in the US and abroad that were recognized and honored to receive this prestigious award confirming our successful business practices by an independent party. The global Progressive Manufacturing Awards Program, now in its fifth year, recognizes best-in-class manufacturers, and this year's list includes companies such as Alcoa, Bell Helicopter, Caterpillar, Dow Chemical, General Mills, Ingersoll Rand, Mercury Marine, Motorola, Pfizer, Pratt & Whitney, Royal Dutch Shell, Tennant, Toshiba, and of course Symetrics. Receiving this award recognizes our commitment to innovation and the use of advanced technology, and has provided validation that we are on the right track with our mission and business strategies.

Symetrics won based on its continuous improvement efforts to upgrade and automate its manufacturing processes, and its adoption of systems such as Epicor and our Product Data Management (PDM) system, leading to tremendous productivity and quality gains. Each of the 100 winners is also competing for a "High Achiever" award in a particular sub-category, and those will be announced June 11, 2009.
